Abstract

This paper highlights the importance the EC Directives on Health and Safety (H&S) at workplace, mandatory to be introduced and implemented in any educational establishment.

This domain is not really given priority as far as it concerns the education administration authorities in any level. However, a deep insight in school or University life discloses the dangers which creep in for the Quality in life of all those who work and live or visit any educational establishment. It, also, a risk assessment task discloses many sources which create problems for safe and healthy work and life within the school.

This paper, describes finally, a model how the H&S policy can be integrated directly into the Management system of the educational establishment.
