

“Gheorghe Asachi” Technical University of Iasi, Romania

INVOLVEMENT OF LEGAL RESPONSIBILITY FOR SEVERE ACTS OF POLLUTION AND NONCOMPLIANCE

Ionel Bostan¹, Aurel Burciu¹, Petru P. Condrea^{2*}, Gheorghe Durac³

¹*“Stefan cel Mare” University of Suceava, 13 Universitatii Str., Suceava, Romania*

²*“Gheorghe Asachi” Technical University of Iasi, 67 Mangeron Blvd., 700050 Iasi, Romania*

³*“Al. I. Cuza” University of Iasi, 20 Carol Blvd., 700200 Iasi, Romania*

Abstract

According to several factors, the infringement of environmental regulations can be considered a simple contravention or a crime. The present approach aims to discuss the conditions for involving criminal responsibility according to the nature of environmental crimes. Our considerations related to serious noncompliance that harms the environment focus on pollution crimes and legal infringements, in relation to the personal characteristics of criminal law responsibility.

Key words: action crimes, causal relations, environmental crime, nonconformity, pollution

* Author to whom all correspondence should be addressed: pcondrea@staff.tuiasi.ro