

---

CHEMICAL - ANALYTICAL CHARACTERISTIC OF MARINE ENVIRONMENTAL POLLUTION IN THE PORTS OF NORTHERN BLACK SEA BASIN

Oleg Nedostoup<sup>1*</sup>, Tatyana Kovalchuk<sup>2</sup>, Eugeniy Malinovsky<sup>1</sup>, Anatoliy Andrianov<sup>2</sup>,
Inna Bezlutskaya<sup>2</sup>, Inna Chebotarskaya<sup>2</sup>, Valeriy Antonovich<sup>2</sup>

<sup>1</sup>Special Design-Technological Bureau with the Experimental Production at the A.V. Bogatsky Physico-Chemical Institute of the National Academy of Sciences of Ukraine

<sup>2</sup>A.V.Bogatsky Physico-Chemical Institute of the National Academy of Sciences of Ukraine, 86 Lustdorfska doroga, 65080 Odessa, Ukraine

---

Abstract

As a result of the chemical-analytical studies of the marine environment of the water area of some Black Sea ports it was found that the water content of standardized components - toxins do not exceed their maximum allowable concentration, and the corresponding sediment significantly contaminated with cadmium, lead, phenols, petroleum products.

Key words: Black Sea ports, pollution, sea water, sediment

---

---

* Author to whom all correspondence should be addressed: e-mail: onedostoup@rambler.ru; physchem@paco.net; phone: +380 48 7250444; fax: 380 48 7243048